ACCELERATED DEGREE PROGRAM APPLICATION CHECKLIST

1. Meet with your undergraduate program chair and ADP faculty advisor, if applicable, and graduate program coordinator/advisor to discuss your eligibility for the ADP program.
 - a. If you are eligible, your faculty advisor(s) will prepare an ADP degree plan. The ADP Degree Plan must be signed by the undergraduate department chair and graduate program coordinator.
2. Complete the NSU Graduate Admission Application for the semester you intend to begin your ADP graduate-level coursework. Make sure to select the Graduate Admission application.
 - a. For step-by-step instructions on how to apply, click here.
3. The Graduate College will process the application and email your letter of admission to your NSU email. You will be admitted as a "provisional" graduate student. Once you complete your bachelor's degree, your status will be updated to a regular graduate student.
4. After you receive your letter of provisional admission, complete the Provisional Permit to Enroll form. You must complete a Provisional Permit to Enroll for EVERY graduate course in which you want to enroll.
 - a. As long as you have "provisional" graduate student status, this form needs to be completed every semester that you will enroll in graduate courses.
 - b. DO NOT ATTEMPT TO ENROLL until you receive notification from the Graduate College that your permit to enroll has been processed.
5. Once you receive confirmation that your permit to enroll has been processed you can enroll into your graduate courses.
